

Joint Expert/Alumni Conference

Central Asia: Comprehensive Security and Sustainable Development

Date: 4-5 November 2023

Venue: OSCE Academy in Bishkek. Conference room.

Address: 1A Botanicheskiy pereulok, Bishkek

About the Conference

Security problems have become more interconnected today, affecting many settings on individual, state, and regional levels. A comprehensive approach to security issues can help consideration of security issues from various perspectives. The Central Asian countries have been challenged by several security problems that can be best examined and discussed with the application of a comprehensive security approach. Looking into security problems this way can contribute to sustainable development of Central Asia and the separate countries within it. In light of the diversity of challenges present in the region and the integration of a comprehensive security approach, this conference will shed light on issues as diverse as gender, youth, and climate change. Also, it includes reflections on the role and cooperation of international organizations with a focus on the OSCE and EU in Central Asia as well as on current geopolitical development in the region.

The Conference is generously funded by the Norwegian Institute of International Affairs – the OSCE Academy’s distinguished donor, partner and member of the Academy’s Board of Trustees.
